About the London Energy Partnership

The London Energy Partnership (LEP) is a key element in London's response to the challenges of climate change, security of energy supply and fuel poverty. It aims to transform London into a world-class city for sustainable energy by bringing together a range of sectors and organisations to deliver energy action more effectively.

The Partnership is made up of a consortium of businesses, government and public bodies. Acting as an independent organisation, it uses the power of partnership to promote sustainable energy solutions in London.
